SAMANTHA STILTNER, ESQ.

Staff Attorney

Samantha Stiltner serves as a staff attorney with The Veterans Consortium Pro Bono Program and Program Manager of The Veterans Pro Bono Legal Clinic at the Washington D.C. VA Medical Center. She joined the team in 2016 and supports the Consortium mission by representing Veterans before the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims and screening cases for possible placement with a pro bono attorney. In addition, Samantha helps develop and support legal clinics to assist veterans on a variety of issues. She is also working to expand the Program's involvement with law schools. Samantha also coordinates and facilitates outreach initiatives with pro bono partnered law firms and law schools to create opportunities for legal sources to come together to serve Veterans.

Samantha is from Fayetteville, North Carolina. She attended Campbell University in Buies Creek, North Carolina, as an undergraduate. After graduation, Samantha attended the John Marshall Law School in Chicago, Illinois. During law school, Samantha was very involved in the John Marshall Veterans Legal Support Clinic and spent three semesters evaluating cases for placement with pro bono attorneys, referring veterans for civil matters, and later training students in areas of veterans' law. Prior to joining the Consortium, Samantha worked in the civil sector in Chicago and continued her efforts to support veterans by working with veteran's legal clinics and contributing to legal publications.
